

ABSTRACT

The present invention concerns topical compositions comprising as an active ingredient at least one cyclic psychotropic agent, preferably an anti-depressant or 5 an anti-psychotic drug.

The invention further concerns a method for the treatment of dermatological diseases or disorders, such as hyper-proliferative or inflammatory skin diseases , by topical application of a cyclic psychotropic agent